Fuel siphoned off from tankers leaving depots

Petrol pump staff catch oil tanker from Hassan with over 200 litres missing

Mysuru, July 30 (RK&BCT)-A fuel tanker transporting petrol from Hassan was found carrying less fuel — approximately 200 litres — this morning and alert petrol pump staff refused to refill their underground storage tanks. Devaraja Police and officials from Department of Weights & Measures had to intervene.

While a Police case will be registered if the fuel has been stolen, an elaborate process is being followed now to measure the exact fuel present in the tanker and match the same with the fuel loaded onto the tanker at Hassan. The tanker arrived at Sri Ganesh Service Station on JLB Road near the City Railway Station from Hassan and the petrol pump staff found that the electronically locked tanker has been tampered with. They later used the dip rod or the dipstick to measure fuel levels in the tanker.

The process involves manually dipping a long rod into a tank to determine the amount of fuel inside. The staff found that the fuel has been stolen and they immediately alerted Nirmala, the owner of the service station. The staff refused to refill the underground tank and informed the Devaraja Police and the Department of Weights and Measures.

Officials from HPCL and IOCL were also informed and they arrived at the scene to measure the fuel quantity. IOCL Association Secretary Ranjit Hegde and Mohit of Petrol Bunk Traders Association also arrived.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The National Education Policy 2020 marks its second anniversary this month. As educational institutions across the country gear up to implement NEP 2020, it is worthwhile to recognise that this moment provides an enormous opportunity to teachers, researchers and learners across the board to engage with the idea of an 'Indian' education. Constructing an indigenous framework of knowledge, however, is an uphill task. It always entails the risk of uncritical, populist and even hagiographic discourses to thrive. Educationists would have to acknowledge that building an alternative paradigm of education would require the development of rigorous tools and analytical frameworks that are able to contribute substantially to the existing debates.

For instance, how would a critical engagement with the idea of seva or zakat help us build a more complex understanding of the philanthropic sector? How would a serious examination of shanti or ahimsa offer a novel entry point towards understanding peace education or conflict resolution? How would an engagement with the idea of sarkar build a more complex and nuanced understanding of governance in India? The NEP offers an opportunity to re-animate an innate vocabulary that a large section of Indian people connects with. It is important that educational and research institutions take cognisance of this opportunity to develop a robust framework for an Indian education system for a truly transformative discourse to emerge.

Sandwich ate 5 years ago causes man to fart since then

London: A man in the United Kingdom, who ate a festive ham sandwich at a Christmas market he was visiting with his family in 2017, claims the snack has been causing him uncontrollable flatulence ever since.

Tyrone Prades has been living a nightmare for five years, and he claims that it has all been because of a festive roll he ate at a Christmas market in Birmingham. Mere hours after eating the snack, Tyrone was hit by stomach cramps, fever, vomiting, diarrhoea and was bed-ridden for five weeks. Ever since that fateful day, the 46-year-old man has been suffering from regular and uncontrollable flatulence that causes him embarrassment and stomach noises that wake him up in the middle of the night.

Prades is suing the owner of the food stall he bought it from for 2,00,000 pounds. His lawyer recently told the Court that months after his initial sickness subsided, his stomach was still making weird churning sounds and the excessive and uncontrollable flatulence never really went away.

A 'mewseum' to show off cat figurine collection

Wisconsin: A Wisconsin couple turned their collection of more than 13,000 cat figurines and feline-themed pieces of art into a 'mewseum' to raise money for shelter cats.

Shawn Redner and Hilary Siegel-Redner said they remodelled the basement of their home so they could increase the number of cat figurines on display at the house, also known as Redner's Rescued Cat Figurine Mewseum, from 4,000 in 2020 to 7,000 in July of this year.

The couple said their ultimate goal is to build a cat cafe and museum to house their collection, which includes 5,000 more pieces in storage. The pair said they also hope to eventually take the Guinness World Record for largest collection of cat-related items. The record is currently held by Carmen De Aldana, who owns 21,321 items.

Poorly developed MCC online tax payment site

Sir,

The MCC online tax payment site is very difficult to navigate. Only by knowing PID, it is easy to retrieve data. First time online tax-payers have to struggle a lot as they have to search using the Ward number plus property number.

Lot of people would not know what is the Ward No., especially those who are having property in Mysuru and living somewhere else. Please see the site where we have to select a Ward, it is only numbers 1,2,3 with a counter and no information about the Ward itself.

On Google, one has to search for the Ward for the corresponding location and then select the property number to get the PID details. This has to be streamlined. One should be able to register with user name and password and should have all the properties listed against the user account. He should be able to select all the properties and pay for them in one shot.

Even with apps like Paytm or PhonePay, users should be able to pay the tax. Advantage would be that as soon as the new tax is generated, these apps will remind the users and at the click of a button on the cellphone, one will be able to pay the tax without much hassle. This will improve the revenue of MCC too.

DO NOT NEGLECT VARICOSE VEINS
The heart supplies blood to all the parts of the body & gravity helps it. Similarly, there is something called a peripheral heart – which includes muscles, veins, & valves in the leg which work together to push back impure blood into the heart. Veins are equipped with one-way valves that prevent back flow. Once these are destroyed, veins become tortuous, and the peripheral heart does not work. This is how varicose veins develop. Issues like leg/limb becoming swollen, slight colour changing spots, edema & blackening of the leg, multiple ulcers with bleeding, bony deformities, & deep vein thrombosis are seen. Common in people with long standing hours, soldiers, labourers, teachers, doctors, & conductors are prone professionally. In the initial phases, lifestyle modification can alter the progress of varicose veins. Treatment modalities include LASER -1470nm diode laser procedure which is done on a daycare basis. Veneseal is a procedure where special glue is used to seal the dilated veins. Laparoscopic ligation of veins is also used. Apart from these, open conventional surgeries can also be performed. Through these Novel procedures, patients can return to normalcy at the earliest.

Two more safari points at Nagarahole Tiger Reserve

Safari will come under buffer zone, not inside core area: Forest Department

Forest officers and staff attending the ground-breaking ceremony to construct two safari points at Nagarahole Tiger Reserve recently.

Kushalnagar, July 30 (Akshay& BCT)- To ease pressure on the existing wildlife safaris at Nagarahole National Park or Nagarahole Tiger Reserve (NTR) and to cash in on the tourist flow to Kodagu, especially during weekends and holidays, the authorities at Nagarahole are setting up two more safari points in the buffer zone area of the NTR.

The ground-breaking ceremony was recently performed at the safari points, one at Thithimathi in Kodagu district on the Hunsur-Gonikoppa-Thalaserry route (near the roadside forest nursery after Anechowkur Gate) and the second one at Muthur village (Hunsur wildlife range) that leads to Maldare-Siddapura in Kodagu (near the Forest Inspection Bungalow). This comes under Periyapatana taluk of Mysuru district.

The NTR already has three safari points and with an addition of two, the total safari points will be five. The present safari points are at Veeranahosahalli at NTR's entry point, at Nanachhi Gate near Kutta and at Dammanakatte in Kakanakote forest.

Jeep safari first

Anechowkur Range Forest Officer (RFO) Ganaraj told SOM that the safari points will be ready by November-December this year and there will be both morning and evening safaris. Safari is conducted at NTR twice daily, from 6 am to 8 am and 3 pm to 5 pm. The new safari points too will follow the same timings.

"The main attraction of Dammanakatte Safari is the boating facility in Kabini backwaters and there is a huge demand here due to the frequent sightings of tigers and the black leopard. We will bring both bus and jeep safari to the new safari counters. To start with, we will have jeep safaris," said the Forest Officer.

The safari points have been designed in such a way that safari-goers from Anechowkur point will reach Muthur at one end and visitors from Muthur point will reach the Anechowkur point at the opposite end, Ganaraj explained.

Seven-kilometre safari

It will be a seven-kilometre safari that will be covered in under 1 hour and 25 minutes. "The safari map has been readied and has to be finalised by the higher authorities. From Anechowkur, the safari will proceed towards the Ambikere range Majjigehalla Haadi and the anti-poaching camp," he added.

The buffer zone is a popular point for elephants and some other common animals; tigers and leopards will be a rare sighting. Sources said that additional safari points are being established to tap the tourist potential of Kodagu.

"After Mysuru, till Bylakuppe (Golden Temple) there are no places of tourist interest. If there is a safari point after Hunsur, then we can divert some tourists here. Also, we can pull tourists who are headed towards Kerala, via Gonikoppa," a Department source said.

Conservation activists object move

But the setting up of two safari points with the sole intention of attracting tourists headed to Kodagu and Kerala as a stopover has come in for intense criticism from wildlife and conservation activists who have raised objections citing excessive commercialisation in the core area of the forests at the cost of disturbing animals.

But the Forest Department officials are dismissing the threat as the two new safaris will be well within the buffer zone and not inside the core area of the NTR. Also, the National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA) and the Chief Wildlife Warden have approved the setting up of new safari points, they added.

"The idea is to introduce tourists to forests and their topography to spread the conservation message. Also it helps in increase in vegetation through awareness and promotes research," said another officer. Buffer zones are not usually known for wildlife sightings. Will a tourist shell out money for a buffer zone safari without any sightings or just sightings of elephants and deer is a big question here.

Faulty machines at Kabini Pumping Station to be replaced: MLA Ramdas

Mysuru, July 30 (MTY&DM)- KR MLA S.A. Ramdas said that as the machinery at Kabini Water Pumping Station, which supplies drinking water to several parts of the city, are reporting frequent breakdowns, the faulty machinery will be replaced with new ones at a cost of Rs. 1 crore.

S.A. Ramdas

Addressing an emergency meeting at the MCC's Old Council Hall here on Thursday, Ramdas, taking note of the protests by residents of several MUDA localities alleging that their localities are not getting water for the past few days, said that the frequent breakdowns at Kabini Pumping Station is the primary cause for disruption in water supply. Pointing out that faulty and outdated machineries will be replaced by latest ones as quickly as possible, he said it is hoped that the problem would not resurface after the replacement of machineries.

Stating that it has been planned to provide pure potable water to all localities coming under KR Constituency by Aug. 15, he said that it has also been decided to link borewell pipelines with parks.

Reacting to complaints by several Corporators that newly fitted water meters had resulted in high water bills, Ramdas said that he has directed the concerned officials to look into the matter.

The MLA further said that the Chief Minister has been appealed to waive off interest on pending water bill dues, which issue will be taken up at the Cabinet meeting.

In-charge Mayor Sunanda Palanetra, In-charge Deputy Mayor Anwar Baig, Corporators Shivakumar, B.V. Manjunath, Geetashri Yoganand, Champaka, Pallavi Begum, Shobha Sunil and others were present.

Inspiring interview of transgender activist Dr. Akkai Padmashali

Beyond victimhood, reclaiming dignity

'Public display of love and support may not translate into acceptance & inclusiveness'

From being a sex worker to being at the forefront of decriminalising homosexuality and penning her autobiography, Dr. Akkai Padmashali's journey has been far from ordinary. The first transgender in the country to get a driving licence mentioning her gender as 'female', Akkai was invited to meet former US President Barack Obama when he visited India in 2017.

Star of Mysore caught up with her when she was in city recently to attend the Mysuru Literature Festival as a panellist in the discussion 'Not an outsider — Just different, like each one is.' Excerpts:

By Nandini Srinivasan

Star of Mysore (SOM): Even a few years ago, you were scorned and people were scared to even speak or touch you. Today the same people are scrambling for a photo op with you. How has the journey been?

Akkai Padmashali: (laughs heartily) That's an interesting question. This is what is called a social change, right? Perhaps even we didn't expect that this movement would gain such a big acceptance. Especially in Karnataka and South India, it has been fast. If any movement has garnered so much support and won, it is definitely the movement of sexual minorities.

We've been ridiculed, discriminated and faced such tough situations and this change is our big victory. You can see how we are being accepted. 20 years ago, people wouldn't touch us with a barge pole. Today they hug, kiss and give us so much warmth.

SOM: What do you think is the reason for this change?

Akkai Padmashali: It's because of the movement and agitation that's come to the forefront. And also, because the Supreme Court recognised the transgender community as equal citizens and not criminals. This has boosted the movement. And the legislature, executive, judiciary, media and society are taking it forward. The once muzzled voices of my community are being heard. That I'm participating in the literature festival and everyone is listening to me is proof of this.

SOM: The LGBTQ community has its own problems all over the world, not just in India.

Akkai Padmashali: Every country has its own share of discrimination — colour, gender, language, caste and creed. Unless we understand human rights and fight for it, things will not change. The fight needs to continue. The global perspective needs to change in the context of accepting people on grounds of whatever they are today, in terms of sexuality, gender or political-religious stance.

SOM: The change from being Jagadish to Akkai Padmashali too hasn't been easy...

Akkai Padmashali: No!! It's an extremely difficult transition. And I want to scream. Being a woman isn't about just having a vagina. There's more to it. I have an identity of my own and you better not decide that. And also understand that for transgenders, sex is a means of living. It's not our life. There are more than 2 crore people belonging to the sexual minority in India today. Our existence matters. Treat us like human beings first.

SOM: There are still so many transgender people out there who aren't as well informed as you or moved on. We do see them suffering still. How easy is it for them to join the mainstream or become like you?

Akkai Padmashali: There is diversity in society and we are trying to bring together people who understand this diversity. When people hear me at such festivals, they go out and accept people like me, the change will happen and many more will join the mainstream. And, isn't it wrong to expect everyone to be like me? Why should you decide how someone should be? Isn't that so patriarchal?

SOM: I'm referring to how you've moved on... your resolve, boldness and skills.

Akkai Padmashali: The struggles in my personal life are perhaps the reason for how I've shaped up. I am a 10th standard-fail student. I think to survive in this society, people like me need a certain set of skills and perhaps I developed that. Language skills helped me too. How did I pick up English? Read the dictionary, picked up words and learnt to string them together. You just need to give it a try and everything becomes easy.

SOM: In spite of the acceptance that we discussed, the fact still remains that people are still hesitant to employ transgenders?

Akkai Padmashali: Things will fall in place when the society stops looking down sexual minorities and start looking at them in a broader context of things. It's already happening. People are working in High Courts and Civil Courts, Vidhana Soudha and Hospitals. In a few years they will all be in the mainstream.

SOM: Films have also been responsible in portraying your community in a derogatory manner.

Akkai Padmashali: It's so difficult to deal with these film people. They portray the transgender community in such a negative way which is unacceptable. I spoke on the stage; I've been speaking to you for so long. Am I doing those stupid antics like clapping hands weirdly or moving my face stupidly with all the aahs and oohs? We are planning to challenge them legally, asking them to stop portraying us like this.

SOM: Is begging a necessity for the transgenders?

Akkai Padmashali: Even I begged and solicited as a sex worker for many years. I decided I want to get out of all this and luckily for me I found better avenues to earn. I learnt some skills and came to the mainstream. For many, this isn't still easy. No one wants to beg or sleep around. But they will have to till they find better openings. Also, if I'm a sex worker I can earn Rs. 2,000 a day. I don't have to beg all week to earn so much. But people beg when it's the last resort. Do you know we have to pay the local Policeman, hafta to the local goonda and many more? What we earn from begging goes to so many people. Begging isn't an easy option. Ironically, the same Policemen who shoo us away during the day, seek sexual favours from us at night.

SOM: What do you have to say to parents when it comes to accepting sexual orientation of their children?

Akkai Padmashali: Left by themselves, parents are okay, will be more accepting. But sadly, it's the neighbourhood, friends who put all negative thoughts in them and make them prejudiced. Parents are more bothered about what society will feel, than how they feel. I went home after 5 years. I realised my parents weren't as bad as I thought they were. If parents need to be more accepting, people should change and this change needs to come through education, awareness.

SOM: What are the plans for bringing the community into the mainstream, providing them a decent living?

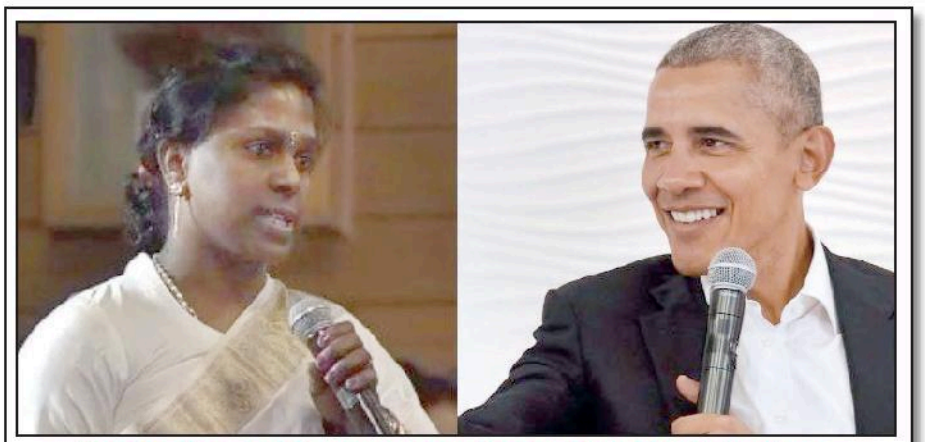
Akkai Padmashali: The Government has brought out policies way back in 2017 and we are just asking for their speedy implementation as they have many advantages — financial and social empowerment.

SOM: You bagged the Rajyotsava Award too?

Akkai Padmashali: Yes, in fact, I asked former CM Siddharamaiah why he was giving me the award when I was actually fighting with his Government. He quipped that the award was to let me keep fighting.

SOM: You think all the support shown to you in public is genuine?

Akkai Padmashali: (laughs) Frankly all the public display of love and support may not translate into acceptance and inclusiveness. But well, at least some will and that's encouraging.



"Mr. President, I wish a great success for the Obama Foundation. I am a transgender woman. My name is Dr. Akkai Padmashali. I was a sex worker, I was a beggar. I was rejected by all the sections of society. And I am the black beauty. And I love you." This is how Akkai, who was invited for the Town Hall in 2017 at New Delhi, introduced herself to former US President Barack Obama and the audience erupted in applause. Akkai also asked Obama for a hug.

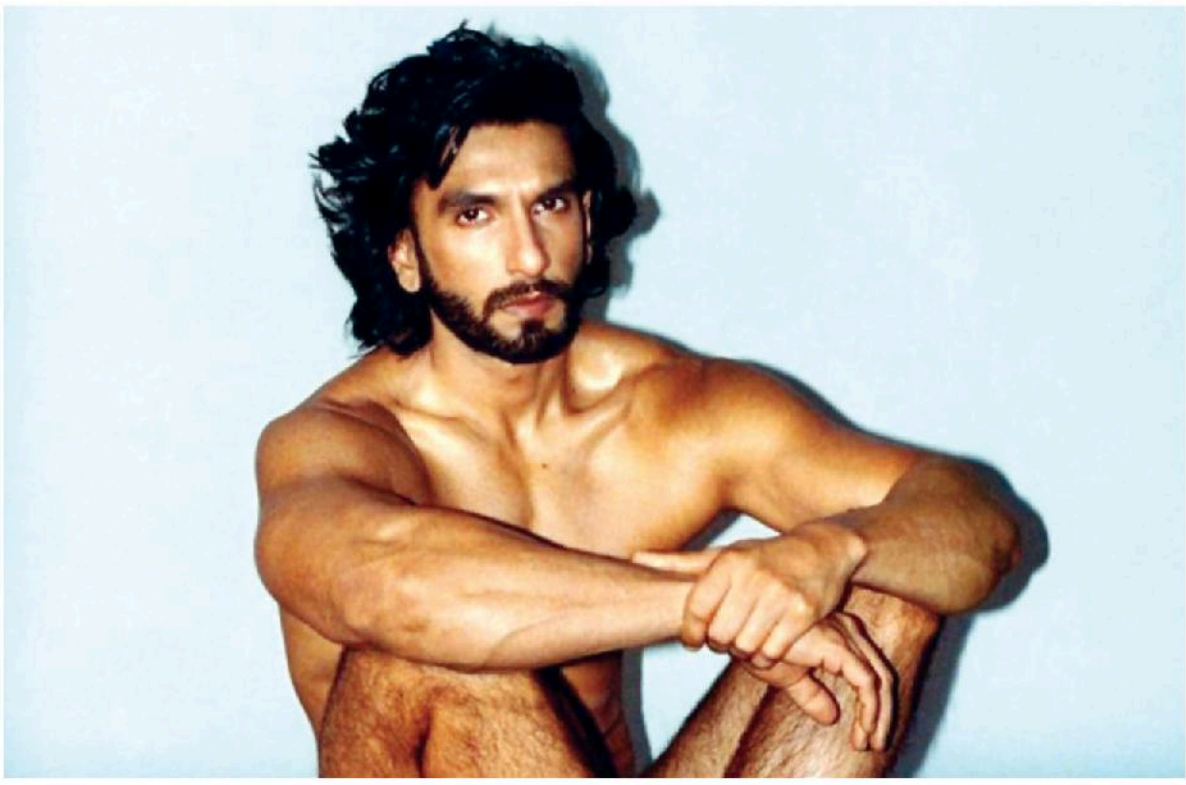
IN BLACK & WHITE

Vikram Muthanna

Nude & Prude



Ranveer Singh is a good actor who takes on unconventional roles. He is unconventional off-screen too, and now he's in trouble.

Ranveer Singh is interesting and even refreshing if you observe him through a discerning progressive lens. His lack of respect for what our society considers 'normal' is refreshing.

Be it his clothes — he wears skirts and shirts with more sequence than his wife. Or be it his complete disregard for cultivating and maintaining the stereotypical image of an Indian hero — a macho man. Ranveer, in his own way, pushes the boundaries of what the typical perception of an Indian male should be, and now it seems he pushed it down too far as he slid out of his pants for a nude photoshoot.

The Mumbai Police registered an FIR against Ranveer Singh on Tuesday for sharing photographs of his nude photoshoot for the New York-based 'Paper' Magazine.

I saw the pics; they were sensual, tasteful, and even somewhat artsy. The photos don't feel dirty or 'porny'. They are just pics of a beautiful man. At least that's all I saw. But it seems that's not what the complainants saw. They saw more!

According to the report in Indian Express, one of the complainants says that when he zoomed in on one of Ranveer Singh's photographs, he realised that the actor's private parts were visible!

First, I have to ask, why did one of the complainants zoom into another man's Central Business District (CBD)? Now, thanks to this complaint, I got curious and found myself zooming into Ranveer's CBD.

As I started zooming in, it looked like a very dark and shady place. I was scared and alert lest some 'nuts' who 'hang' around such places suddenly pop up and scare me like they did the complainants.

But alas, after much zooming in and out of the area, I returned disappointed. I guess now the Mumbai Police will have to waste their time zooming in and out of Ranveer's shadowy crotch to find the private part to present as evidence in the Court.

The question is, should the Police and Courts be wasting time on such cases? As the famous author of Carpet Wars, Christopher Kremmer, put it "In India, frivolous litigation seems to be a national sport."

Interestingly, the Police have booked cases against Ranveer using laws created in 1925 by the British. But the British themselves don't have these laws anymore! Then why are we keeping them?

Let's not forget that the British made us prudish about all things sensual and sexual. The British have left us Indians confused about the difference between nudity and vulgarity.

Ancient Indian culture accepted, appreciated and even celebrated sex and nudity as natural and beautiful. They didn't call it a sin like most Western religions did and still do.

The truth is, India was never prudish about sex. Hell, we built a temple for sex — Khajuraho. We have a book on sexual positions — 'Kamasutra'. We had a genre of poetry, 'Rekhti', that describes erotic encounters between women. We were a very sexually-liberal race. So liberal that we accepted homosexuality and gender fluidity as part of nature.

Ironically, today the British are liberal sexually and intellectually while we have become narrow-minded religious fanatics! They are what we were centuries ago, and we are what they were centuries ago. Ah, how the tables have turned.

That said, maybe it's time Indian women got to see some male nudity. We are sure the modern Indian women's 'modesty' is not so fragile that a Ranveer nude photoshoot could outrage it. And here's news for people who are worried about modesty...

ProHub world's largest phonographic network, conducted a worldwide survey based on their internet traffic, and guess what? Indian women are the third highest consumer of porn in the world! They also consumed more porn than more American women. And Gleeden, a global extra-marital dating app, surveyed 8 Indian urban centres and reported that 43 percent of Indian wives admitted to having had an intimate relationship outside their marriage!

This being the case, we doubt Ranveer's butt curve will outrage young Indian women. If anything, they must be outraged that Ranveer did not have the guts to show more.

We Indians are prudes and hypocrites, especially the Indian middle class and upper middle class. These two sections of our society are most worried about 'what people will think', and because of this, they lead hypocritical and unfulfilled lives—busy judging and moralising instead of minding their own business and living.

Conversely, the super-rich and the poor don't care what others think; they live as they choose fit and do what makes them happy.

Meanwhile, the Indian middle class and upper middle class are stuck in the British prudishness era and keep harping about our 'glorious past' and 'culture' while conveniently ignoring the fact that sex, erotica, sensuousness and nudity were also part of our glorious past and culture.

Our past was glorious indeed, with our knowledge of medicine, mathematics, astronomy, linguistics, textile, metallurgy etc. Along with these, we were also excellent with regard to how we viewed and celebrated sex, erotica and nudity.

Maybe this 'openness' made our ancestors free thinkers and dared to have a scientific bent of mind. No thinker or scientist in ancient India was ever driven to death for suggesting radical ideas like Galileo in the West or, even more recently, Alan Turing was. Yes, we were a society open to ideas and accepting of different aspects of life. Look where we are today.

It's time to shed our British-induced prudishness even in matters of sex and live a little like our ancestors, with a sense of sensualness.

While we 'Make in India,' we must also stop 'Fake in India.' Hypocrisy and lack of humour can stifle a nation. And it is.

Fuel siphoned off from tankers

According to Ranjit Hegde, there is a huge oil mafia in Mysuru that steal fuel from tankers coming out of oil depots. Keeping a check on incidents of fuel theft from oil tankers, which are supposed to transport them from oil depots to petrol pumps has become a challenge, he said. They also use duplicate dip rods for tampering with the measurement of fuel quantity inside the tankers.

"There is huge money involved here and we suspect that over 200 litres have been stolen from this particular tank, which is equal to Rs. 20,000. These people cheat regularly while we dealers just get Rs. 2,000 to Rs. 3,000 per tanker, he added.

Thieves even change the design of the tankers by making cavities inside them to steal the fuel. Recently, the Hassan SP seized over 54 tankers that had mini tankers inside designed to steal fuel. All the tanker owners were blacklisted and cases were booked," Ranjit told Star of Mysore.

After stealing oil in large quantities, thieves store it in houses and storage places for sale on the black market.

MLA's call to girl students to engage in extra-curricular activities

Mysuru, July 30 (MTY&DM)- Observing that students should strive for fulfilling the aspirations of their parents, Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda (GTD) has called upon girl students to engage themselves in music, arts, dance and such other extra-curricular activities, as supplemental to their academics.

He was speaking after inaugurating the new D. Devaraj Urs Post-Matric Girls Hostel at Rajarajeshwarinagar at a programme organised under the joint aegis of District Administration, Zilla Panchayat and Backward Classes Welfare Department on Wednesday.

Pointing out that most parents dream that their children become engineers, doctors, bureaucrats and the like, GTD said that children should study hard and with determination for achieving this. The students should also maintain good relationship with their hostel-mates and college-mates, he added. Stressing on the need for maintaining the hostel premises clean and tidy, GTD said that it is also important to have a garden and flowering plants in the hostel premises.

Opining that students should read books on Sharanas and philosophers such as Basavanna, he recalled that as a ZP President earlier, he used to hold workshops for hostel wardens, in which Seers delivered talks.

MLC C.N. Manjegowda said that late Devaraj Urs set up Backward Classes Welfare Department and started student hostels with an objective that backward community students study well and become economically empowered. But though the Government was giving all facilities, the hostel students' performance in exams is not up-to the mark, he regretted. He asked the hostel students to study well and secure ranks.

Pointing out that there are 93 student hostels in Mysuru district, he said that the Government is spending crores of rupees for the welfare of students.

Noting that students are a vital part of the society, he urged them to realise the dreams of Devaraj Urs by excelling in studies, winning laurels and making outstanding achievements.

Backward Classes Welfare District Officer H.S. Bindya welcomed the gathering, while Mahalakshmi compered.

Nirmiti Kendra Planning Officer H.B. Satish, Assistant Engineer K.S. Ramesh, Bogadi Town Panchayat Executive Officer Shyamasundar, Taluk Welfare Officers Chandrakala, Vishwanath, Swarnalatha, Mahesh, Premkumar, Satish, Meena, Hostel Office Manager Deepak and others were present.

Old Mysore model is the best model for administration

Mysuru, July 30 (PM&DM)- Bemoaning that we are currently speaking about Gujarat and Kerala development models, while ignoring our own Old Mysore Model, which still stands today as one of the best models of governance, University of Mysore Political Science faculty Prof. Muzaffar Assadi said that the Mysore Model is aimed at building an all inclusive and equal society.

He was speaking at the release of HMT Lingaraj Urs edited book 'Ursu Chutuku Hilalugalu' organised by city's Anveshana Trust at the Institution of Engineers on JLB Road here on Thursday.

Noting that we are all speaking of Gujarat and Kerala Models, Prof. Assadi maintained that these two models were only limited development Models.

"The old Mysore Model is a Model for everything. The erstwhile Mysore Maharajas strived for an all inclusive society and are also credited for introducing reservation and decentralisation of power. Former Chief Minister late D. Devaraj Urs carried forward the initiatives of the Maharajas and this helped the marginalised sections and micro communities of the society to have access to political power," he contended.

Titular head of the erstwhile Mysore Royal family Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar, who spoke after releasing the book, said it is laudable that Dr. MGR Urs, apart from engaging in literary activities, has also involved himself in Ursu Samaja activities.

Pointing out that the city's Ursu Mandali is celebrating its centenary on Aug. 21, he called upon all community members to actively participate in it.

Karnataka Safai Karmachari Commission Chairman M. Shivanna, who presided over the event, complimented the organisers for getting the book released by Yaduveer Wadiyar and said that the book would not have got such an honour even if the Chief Minister had released it.

Underlining the role of the erstwhile Mysore rulers in Karnataka getting a prominent place in the country's map, he said that the landless poor have largely benefited from D. Devaraj Urs' initiative of 'Uluvavane Bhoomi Odeya' (the tiller is the owner of the agricultural land), which stands as a model even today.

Earlier, Akhila Karnataka Brahmana Mahasabha Zonal President B.R. Nataraj Jois inaugurated the programme.

Book editor and Ursu Mandali President HMT Lingaraj Urs, Anveshana Trust Hon. Secretary Amarnathraje Urs, Chutuku (Limericks) writer and Rajyotsava awardee Dr. MGR Urs and others were present.

Mysuru-Chennai high-speed rail: Govt. to acquire land

National High-Speed Rail Corporation to submit Detailed Project Report

Bengaluru, July 30 (KMS&BCT)- The State Government will soon convene a high-level meeting to discuss land acquisition for the high-speed rail corridor between Mysuru and Chennai via Bengaluru.

V. Somanna

Infrastructure Minister V. Somanna told reporters in Bengaluru on Friday that the Centre recently asked National High-Speed Rail Corporation to submit a Detailed Project Report (DPR) to implement the project.

The ambitious project was conceived in 2014. The proposed bullet train will take about three hours to cover 485 kilometres from Mysuru to Chennai. Currently, trains take 8-9 hours. "The Centre has given the green signal to prepare the DPR for Karnataka's first bullet train project on the long-awaited Mysuru-Bengaluru-Chennai route. We have decided to identify land and finalise modalities for land acquisition," he said.

It is a line to be built at a cost of Rs. 1.15 lakh crore. The State Government will provide the required land for the total project. "There is a proposal to build the corridor along the 10-lane highway between Bengaluru and Mysuru. We'll discuss it at the meeting," he added. While the State Government has to provide land, the Centre will bear the entire project cost," Somanna said.

After the Mumbai-Ahmedabad bullet train, the Centre is ready to connect the major cities of Karnataka and Tamil Nadu. If this project is implemented, it will be possible to travel from Mysuru to Bengaluru in 45 minutes and from Bengaluru to Chennai in two hours.

"Before the State Government acquires land for the project, a Memorandum of Understanding has to be signed between Karnataka and Tamil Nadu that will facilitate land acquisition in the neighbouring State," he added.

He said works on nine new rail lines, including Munirabad-Mahbubnagar, Tumakuru-Rayadurga, Chikkamagalur-Belur and Tumakuru-Davanagere, are on and the State Government has released Rs. 1,600 crore for them.

"All these lines are expected to be ready for operation in two years," he added. On the demand for more trains between Bengaluru and Hosur, he said since the 22-km Yeshwantpur-Channasandra and 42-km Byappanahalli-Hosur stretches are single lines, running additional trains is not possible.

GP members to take out rally in city tomorrow

Mysuru, July 30 (MTY&DM)- Seeking fulfilment of their demands, Gram Panchayat (GP) members from across the State will take out a rally in city tomorrow (July 31).

Announcing this at a press meet in city recently, Karnataka GP Members Federation Mysuru District President Nagaraj Yadunadu said that GP members have been facing certain problems for the past several years.

Alleging that the Government of late is making attempts to curb the powers of GP members and also cut short grants, he said that in this backdrop, the GP members will take out a massive rally in city to draw the attention of the Government to their problems and fulfilment of demands.

"The rally will commence from the Town Hall at 10 am on July 31 and will culminate at Dasara Exhibition Grounds, where a convention will take place, which will be inaugurated by the Federation's State President Satish Kadashettihalli. MLCs Dr. D. Thimmaiah, C.N. Manjegowda and others will take part as guests," Nagaraj said adding that about 3,000 GP members of the State are expected to take part in the rally.

Nagaraj further said that the demands include hike in honorarium to GP Presidents, Vice-Presidents and members, issuance of free bus pass, insurance coverage, pension benefits etc. He also urged the Government to declare GPs as Local-Self Governments.

Federation office-bearers Rangaswamy G. Maralli, Manjunath, B. Mahadev, Gurumurthy, Devaraju and Shivakumar were present at the press meet.

Mysuru, July 30 (BCT)- Natasha Chethan, who has her roots in Mysuru, has been selected to represent India at the World Snooker Championship to be held from Aug. 21 to 25 in Bucharest, Romania. Aged 14, she is the youngest player of the contingent and will be representing India in the Women's Under-21 Category.

Natasha has participated in the Karnataka State Ranking Tournament winning in both the Under-18 snooker and billiards categories and was the runner-up in the Under-21 snooker and billiards categories. At the National-level, she was runner-up in the Under-18 billiards category and finished No.4 in the Under-21 snooker category.

She had participated in the UK 9 Ball Pool Open held in May 2022 in London and in a Chinese Pool (hey ball) championship in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. At Bucharest, she will be representing India for the first time. "It is a proud moment," she told Star of Mysore.

Natasha is the official junior ambassador of 'Sight Right', a premier UK-based academy which has been training snooker champions like Mark Williams and Shaun Murphy for many years now. She is sponsored by Finland-based Taom, a prestigious pool and snooker equipment manufacturing company.

Natasha, who started playing when she was just 9, said, "I used to watch my mother play at her club. I was not allowed to play as I was too young but I took a liking to the game. My dad is a coffee planter in Sakleshpur and I later got a chance to play at the Planters Club in Sakleshpur. In Bengaluru, I played at the Century Club and Bangalore Snooker Academy."

She is at present being coached by Pranit Ramchandani and will leave for Bucharest on Aug. 19 with three other girls and the rest of the Indian team. "My daily schedule usually includes routines which help enhance the game and build up breaks. I practice for about 4-5 hours a day. I also include some fitness and Yoga in my routine because it helps focus and stamina on the table," Natasha detailed about her rigorous training.

Regarding her academics, Natasha said that she is currently pursuing education at the National Institute of Open Schooling (NIOS). "I am in the 9th grade and will be writing my board exams next year. I usually take my classes in the morning and practice from the afternoon to the evening. I have opted for some interesting subjects which help my sport as well," she added.

ROLE OF COACH

It was Pranit Ramchandani who spotted Natasha's talent and he moved from Chennai to Bengaluru just to train her. When he realised that his coaching task needed skills, he went to the UK and acquired additional skills, Natasha recalled.

Natasha is the daughter of Leena Chethan and H.S. Chethan of Sakleshpur. Her grandparents Tara Chand Gupta and Mamta Gupta are residents of Vijayanagar 1st Stage in Mysuru. Natasha, her parents and her sister are now settled in Bengaluru. Leena is an art advisor who studied in Mysuru at Nirmala Convent, Mahajana College and did her MBA at the University of Mysore.

Karnataka Postal Department to sell 12 lakh National Flags

Bengaluru, July 30 (SSM)- As part of 'Har Ghar Tiranga' campaign marking Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav, to celebrate 75 years of Indian Independence, the Karnataka Postal Department has planned to sell 12 lakh National Flags.

Chief Postmaster General S. Rajendra Kumar, speaking to presspersons recently, said that a selfie-point will be set up in every Head Post Office across the State. "Customers can click selfies and share it on social media. The Head Post Offices will also post videos of campaign apart from releasing the 'Har Ghar Tiranga' anthem," he said.

"The Centre has mandated the sale of 2 crore flags across the country. In the State there is an aim to sell around 12 lakh flags from all Post Offices from Aug. 1," Rajendra added.

Encouraging citizens to hoist the Tri-colour for three days marking Independence Day celebrations, Rajendra said that the idea is to build a feeling of patriotism among people and also to recall the contributions of those who worked tirelessly towards building an independent nation.

'Dhwaja Satyagraha' in Mysuru on July 31

Aim to save Khadi flags and revive rural India

Mysuru, July 30 (MTY&BCT)- Protesting against the amendments made to the Flag Code, a padayatra will be taken out from Gandhi Square near Town Hall to Freedom Fighters Park at Subbarayana Kere in Mysuru on July 31. Also, day-long cultural events have been planned at Subbarayana Kere and will be held on the day as part of the 'Flag Satyagraha' or 'Dwaja Satyagraha' to oppose the amendment to the National Flag Code.

Unfazed by the Opposition's attacks, the Government has intensified efforts to get more people to join its 'Har Ghar Tiranga' campaign (hoisting of flag in every home) from Aug. 13 to 15 to mark Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav. To meet the unprecedented demand for the Tricolour, the Centre has changed the Flag Code of India 2002 that governs the use, display and hoisting of the National Flag in the country.

The amendment allowed machine-made and polyester flags to be used for the National flag. In the notification, the Government had replaced paragraph 1.2 of Part I of the Flag Code with "The National Flag shall be made of hand-spun and handwoven or machine-made, cotton/ polyester/ wool/ silk khadi bunting."

However, a section of khadi weavers is opposing the amendments, saying that the demand for khadi flags has suffered due to the new rules.

Kalachanne Gowda, convenor of Citizen's Forum (Nagarika Samithi) Mysuru told reporters at Pathrakarthara Bhavan recently that the padayatra will begin at 9.30 am on July 31 and upon reaching the Freedom Fighters Park, cultural activities will begin from 10.30 am. The activities include exhibitions of paintings, singing and dancing, play-acting and discussions, besides an exhibition of khadi yarn making and the sale of khadi flags.

Theatre personality and social activist Prasanna said that as per Rule 1.2 of Part 1 of the Flag Code of India 2002, only Khadi or hand-spun cloth was the material for the flag. "Use of other materials was not allowed. But the recent amendment has changed where the National Flag can be made of hand-spun and hand-woven or machine-made, cotton, polyester, wool and silk Khadi bunting which is not acceptable."

WORD OF THE DAY

Conscientious

Pronunciation: kahn-shee-EN-shus.
Meaning: Conscientious often describes those who are concerned with doing things correctly. It can be used as a synonym for both meticulous and careful.
Origin: According to American writer and editor H. L. Mencken, "Conscience is the inner voice which warns us someone may be looking." A person who is conscientious makes sure that if others are watching, they approve of what they see. This is true for someone who is "governed by their conscience" as the oldest sense of the word is defined—as in "a conscientious objector to the war"—but it is also true for the conscientious person paying close, careful attention to the task at hand. Conscientious came to English from French, centuries after Middle English had adopted conscience from Old French; both ultimately come from Latin scire, "to know."
Example: "Findings from Gosling's studies revealed that highly conscientious people tend to have homes or offices that are clean & in good condition. Books, TV remotes & magazines may be neatly arranged & conveniently located, for example. Their music records & books might be organised & grouped together on bookshelf by type or genre." — Brian Collisson

THE ODD WORD

Camaca
Fine silk fabric.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Can't cut the mustard

Meaning: When you use the expression 'Can't cut the mustard' you mean that someone is unable to succeed or meet expectations.
Origin: The phrase 'Can't cut the mustard' emerged in America at the end of the 1800s. The earliest printed example comes from an 1889 edition of The Ottowa Herald: "He tried to run the post office business under Cleveland's administration, but 'couldn't cut the mustard'." The use of quotation marks indicates that the phrase was already a common one.
Example: "I really like Jake, but he just can't cut the mustard."

QUOTE BOX

Almost anything is edible with a dab of French mustard on it. —Nigel Slater
